

I strongly urge the FCC to not change New Jersey's "Do Not Call Law" from the current law as it is. This is more than just allowing telemarketers to continue their business. This is a quality of life issue. As time goes on our privacy is being infringed on more and more. Allowing telemarketers the right to call at will encroaches on our right as private citizens to not be harassed at home. In an age of constant bombardment from the outside it should not only be our right to be left alone but I feel it is a necessity for us to be able to come home to an environment that is a respite from the outside.
